

Do I have to use a Feather blade in my Feather All Stainless Safety Razor?

Jeremy
Sacramento, CA

Although the Feather All Stainless comes packaged with 10 Feather blades, the razor can be used with any standard double-edge blade. The Feather Company from Japan produces what most wet shavers consider to be the highest quality and sharpest double-edge razor blades available today. The Feather All Stainless safety razor is made to the same high standard of quality and marketed to complement their well-known blades. Many men falsely believe that they need to use Feather blades to get the best shave; however, those with sensitive skin or lighter facial hair can experience issues with irritation from using blades that are too sharp. If you experience discomfort, burning, or scratching after shaving with a Feather blade, try a milder blade in your Feather All Stainless. Learn more in choosing the Right Blade C

Do you have a question?